VILLAS

FAMILIES From baby kit to activities for all ages, these places guarantee everyone a relaxing break

BARCO, UMBRIA, ITALY Part of the Castello di Reschio estate, Barco offers the best of both worlds: complete seclusion yet plenty of activities to keep all generations entertained, from cooking classes and riding to wildlife watching with the gamekeeper. The house itself can be rented as five or six bedrooms (two have bunk beds and there's also a guest cottage). In the evenings, eat outside on the wisteria-covered terrace or pop to Ristorante Alle Scuderie for pizza. A week from €25,200. reschio.com

MAS DES OLIVIERS, PROVENCE, FRANCE This rambling farmhouse is instantly beguiling, its honeyed-stone façade surrounded by orchards, olive groves and lawns leading to a generous outdoor heated pool. Sleeping 12 in seven bedrooms, it combines country charm with modern comforts (think good Wi-Fi and Netflix), and comes well stocked with everything a family could possibly need – including baby monitors, cots and even a blender for those enjoying the delights of the weaning stage. There are plenty of games and toys for rainy days plus a wooden playhouse, swings and that dreamy pool with its own dining area for making the most of the sun. A week from £6,224. cvillas.com

VILLA ANGELO, ISTRIA, CROATIA

Perched in a verdant valley near the hill town of Motovun, Villa Angelo enjoys an astonishingly pretty setting. The house is artfully styled, with sprigs of dried flowers adorning wooden beams, a copper bath in the main suite and four-poster day beds by the infinity pool. The attic room for four is ideal for children; grown-ups looking for a few moments' peace can escape to the hammam. Nearby, the Mirna River is a fun spot for cooling off and the coast is a 20-minute drive away. A week from €2,750. scottwilliams.co.uk
